

TRADE IMPROVES; OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Bradstreet's Men All Make Optimistic Reports.

HOLD MEETING IN ATLANTA

From All the Southern Cities Represented Reports Are That Decided Improvement Is Shown in All Lines of Business in the South.

The meeting of the Bradstreet superintendents in the city yesterday resulted in reports going on record that show the conditions in the south to be rapidly improving, with the most optimistic outlook for fall and winter.

These superintendents of Bradstreet's are in close touch with the money, manufacturing and crop conditions, and without an exception they report that the manufacturing industries are better now than they were this time last year, the crops are fine and money is easy.

In their statements these Bradstreet men show that there is activity in all lines of industry, and the money is being expended both to capitalize manufacturing and to erect new buildings.

With Atlanta to start with, where business is shown to be getting better every day, Augusta, Jacksonville, Montgomery, Mobile, Savannah, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Macon, Albany, Charleston and Tampa are all falling in line with reports which show that reaction from the panic has set in, and that with easy money, manufacturing and factories resuming business, there is every reason to believe that this fall and winter will witness the restoration of prosperous times throughout the country.

Why Meeting Was Called.
The meeting of the Bradstreet superintendents was called in Atlanta by Division Superintendent James Pedder, for the purpose of ascertaining from a conference and a heart to heart talk exactly what the financial and commercial conditions in the south were at this time, and what the outlook was for the balance of the year.

The result of the conference, states Mr. Pedder, has been most satisfactory. He found his superintendents, who a few days ago were forced to make very gloomy reports of conditions, all feeling bright and cheerful over the present prospects.

The reports, without an exception, show that money is easier, with plenty to move the crops, crops bountiful, industries which have been shut down are getting ready to resume business; merchants are more optimistic; banks are lending money with more confidence, and all lines of trades are showing great improvements.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Pedder a representative of The Constitution was permitted to attend the meeting at its close, and statements were received direct from Bradstreet superintendents who were present.

Atlanta All Right.
James E. C. Pedder, division superintendent, with offices in Atlanta, spoke first. He said:

"We all knew that Atlanta was showing the signs of better times, but we were not exactly satisfied about some other southern towns. Now we know that the situation in this city is making things brighter everywhere in this part of the country. In Atlanta we can see buildings going up, especially in the residence sections, and there is no better evidence of good times, in my opinion, than for people to be building homes. Our merchants report trade better. More traveling men are out on the road to sell goods than there were a few months back. Money is plentiful, orders are good, and I am glad to say to the people that the outlook is most optimistic."

The superintendents were willing and glad to tell how business was prospering in their towns and sections. Those who were present at the meeting furnished The Constitution with statements as follows:

From Montgomery, Ala.
G. M. Williams, Montgomery, Ala.: "Our lumber and turpentine trade shows a most marked improvement. Our town is already feeling the result of the improved conditions, and we are erecting"

BETTER THAN GOLD
Food That Rebuilds Body and Brain.
"I owe a debt of gratitude to Grape-Nuts," writes a W. Va. young lady, "and I am glad of this opportunity to pay a little interest on it, although the debt itself I can but hope to remove. A few years ago I broke down from overwork and improper food. I was then in a preparatory school and my fondest wish was to enter college the following year."

"But about the middle of the term my health failed, and my brain refused to grapple with the subjects presented to it. Finally, my eyesight giving way, I was taken from the school, and sent to my grandmother's in the country with orders not to open a book while I was there."

"The dear old lady tried every way to console and nurse me back to health, but it looked like failure until the day she brought back from town a box, which had its contents been pure gold. It would have been of less value to me than the little golden-brown granules which it actually contained."

"I did not care about being experimented on at first, but that was before I had tasted Grape-Nuts with Grandma's rich Jersey cream."

"Oh, it was too good to stop eating. And I never have stopped, for I still have Grape-Nuts for breakfast."

"In the course of a few weeks I was back at school again, my health so entirely restored that I was almost a new girl."

"I am now in my junior year at college, president of my class, and expect to take an A. M. degree next year. My good health has continued and my eyes, having been strengthened by the general build-up of my whole body, enable me to study all I wish." "There's a Reason."

three new steel buildings. All over the city new residences and stores are going up, which clearly indicates that people with money to invest feel that the hard-time scare is about over. Mills that have been shut down are resuming operations. Prices are firm, money is easy, and our large wholesale houses are putting out men on the road as fast as possible. The outlook for the fall and winter is excellent."

From Albany, Ga.
Linton S. Lewis, Albany, Ga.: "There are signs of great improvement in my territory. The fruit crop has brought us much cash, and the cotton is being picked and will soon be marketed. We have a new mill under way and the jobbing concerns feel more confidence. The Flint river will be made navigable to Pensacola, and we will have an outlet to the sea. This waterway will save us $100,000 in freight charges. The outlook for the fall trade is most excellent."

From Tampa, Fla.
George A. Folin, Tampa, Fla.: "Our town has increased in population in the past fourteen years from 17,000 to 42,000, and we are still rapidly growing. Our largest industry is cigars and tobacco, and that business is steadily increasing. New factories are being built every week. We have now between four and five hundred of them in full operation. When the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad extends to Tampa we will grow still faster. Our fruit and truck crops this year are immense. The turpentine and lumber business shows marked signs of improvement. Money is easier, and, altogether, trade is on the increase."

From Birmingham, Ala.
F. C. Whitley, Birmingham, Ala.: "The iron and steel conditions are greatly improved since the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company absorbed the Carnegie Steel Trust. Prices for both iron and steel are better. Our city has a new 18-story steel office building under construction. Greater Birmingham now has 60,000 people more since the city limits were extended. The banking business is in prime condition, collections are good, and orders satisfactory. I can safely predict a better time this fall than we had last year."

From Macon, Ga.
J. Wingfield Nisbet, Macon, Ga.: "As Macon is the center of the fruit section our city has greatly profited by the big crop this year. It has called for more ice, more cars and more railroad crews. We are expecting much from our improved waterways when the Flint, Oconee and Ocmulgee rivers are opened up. The American National bank has recently increased its capital stock to $500,000; there are two new bank buildings in the course of construction, and business everywhere is improved. Money is plentiful. There is much activity preparatory to the fall trade. Merchants feel better, collections are good, and all conditions greatly improved."

From Chattanooga, Tenn.
John L. Wray, Chattanooga, Tenn.: "The indications in my city and territory are for a new era in industrial development. There are at present employed over 300 men in building the dam across the river for the Chattanooga Light and Power Company. Our wholesale and retail liquor business is, of course, good. The iron and allied industries show a steady increase in business, and several new factories will soon be put into operation. Money is easy."

From Mobile, Ala.
A. G. Wetherford, Mobile, Ala.: "All classes of business in Mobile have a much better tone. The lumber men are very optimistic, and trade is much better than it was a few months ago. The cotton crop will compare favorably with that of last year, despite the heavy rains. There is much to inspire confidence among local jobbers, and they are sending out more men. We expect even better times when the new transportation company that has been organized buys up the coal lands in north Alabama. Money is much easier."

From Jacksonville, Fla.
Clarence W. Hendley, Jacksonville, Fla.: "Business is much improved with our naval stores, manufacturers of fertilizers and lumber men. The fruit men have had the best season known for many years, and the outlook for the orange crop is the best in a long while. The sawmills, which were closed down, are preparing to open up again. There is a movement on foot to organize a naval stores concern, with a capital stock of $2,000,000, and this, I understand, will be done for the purpose of bucking the trusts. In our city there are being built three office buildings, which will cost $1,025,000. All lines of business show improvement, and money is much easier."

From Savannah, Ga.
J. A. Gorham, Savannah, Ga.: "I believe that confidence in business and financial circles in my section of the state has been restored. Many men are

NO DRINKING ON RAILWAYS

New Louisiana Law Prohibits Drinking on Any Passenger Trains.

New Orleans, July 20.—Drinking, even out of one's own flask on railroad passenger trains in Louisiana constitutes a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. This law, which was passed by the last legislature, went into effect today.

Heretofore there has been no law to prevent a man from stocking his grip in a wet town and imbibing to his heart's content, whether the train happened to be running in dry or damp territory. The effect resulting therefrom has not been specially felt in Louisiana, where until quite recently prohibition had obtained but a feeble foothold, but in north Louisiana where strict prohibition laws seem to have increased the whisky thirst, it has become a source of great danger and annoyance. Liquor is still sold in Shreveport, Monroe, Alexandria and other towns in north Louisiana.

Men and boys have been accustomed to go to these towns from the surrounding dry country, drink to their heart's content and then start back to their homes with flasks and bottles in their clothes, continuing their debauch on the trains. Much disorder has frequently resulted, peaceable persons, including women and children, being put to annoyance and in some instances to danger.

The law is sweeping in its character. It makes it unlawful for any person to drink intoxicating liquors of any kind in or upon any railway passenger train or coach or closet or vestibule or platform in case of actual sickness. After a hard fight a resolution was added which makes the law inapplicable to stimulants taken with meals in a regular dining car.

Trainmen are vested with authority as police officers and the various companies will see that their employees are given instructions not to permit any violations of the law.

ATLANTA MAN WAS SENTENCED

He Must Die on Gallows for Murder of His Sister.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 20.—(Special.)—Otis D. Smith, formerly of Atlanta, convicted last week on a charge of murdering his own sister, Cora Belle Smith, was this morning sentenced to death by Judge Call in the circuit court. Motion for new trial was denied and Attorney Broome gave notice of appeal to the supreme court. The expense of the appeal must be borne by the state. When asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Smith spoke as follows:

"I had no idea what the witnesses against me were going to testify. Had I known what they were going to say and if I had thought that I was guilty and about to be convicted, the result might have been different. It would have been much more honorable if I had killed myself. What the witnesses against me testified to was not true, and, if I am given the chance, I can show this."

Sentence was then passed and Smith shivered from head to foot as he heard the words from the mouth of Judge Call.

MORE PAY FOR LESS WORK WAS THE RULE LAST YEAR

Washington, July 20.—The average wages per hour in 1907 were 3.7 per cent higher than in 1906, the regular hours of labor per week were 0.4 per cent lower than in 1906 and the number of employees in the establishments investigated was 1 per cent greater than in 1906.

These are some of the facts of interest in a statement issued today by the bureau of labor as the result of an investigation of the principal wage-working occupations in 4,169 establishments representing the principal manufacturing and mechanical industries of the country. The article is entitled "Rates of Wages and Retail Prices of Food, 1890 to 1907."

Investigations covering the sales of 1,014 dealers in 93 localities show that the retail prices of thirty principal articles of food, according to consumption in representative workingmen's families, were 4.2 per cent higher in 1907 than in 1906.

As the advance in retail prices from 1906 to 1907 was greater than the advance in wages per hour, the purchasing power of an hour's wages, as measured by food, was slightly less in 1907 than in 1906, the decrease being one-half of 1 per cent.

MRS. EMMA BELL ILL; DRANK WRONG MEDICINE

Well-Known Atlanta Woman Has Suffered Greatly From Effects of the Error.

Mrs. Emma Bell, of 258 Peachtree street, the mistress of the Bell house, is quite ill as the result of having by mistake drunk from a bottle containing a cleaning fluid thinking it was a medicine which had been prescribed for her. Fortunately the fluid was a poison, but it produced horrors from which Mrs. Bell has suffered greatly.

She has been seriously ill for a week, but last night she was better, and it is alleged that she will soon be on the road to recovery.

No one woman in Atlanta is better known or has more sincere friends than Mrs. Bell. The hundreds of Atlantians who during the past two decades have found a home beneath her roof have for her an affection very close to that felt for a mother, and to all former Bell house boys, as well as to those now living with her, her illness has been a matter of serious concern.

FLAMES DESTROY FAMOUS COLLEGE

Southern Female College Was Burned at LaGrange.

THE LOSS WAS ABOUT $40,000

The Southern Female College was the second oldest college for women in America—Fire Was Due to Defective Wires.

LaGrange, Ga., July 20.—(Special).—The Southern Female college was almost totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning about 4 o'clock. There was only one building left. There was no insurance on the building at the time of the burning, the policies having recently expired. Loss is estimated at about $40,000. The fire was first found in the auditorium building, and from there spread to the dormitory.

The Southern Female college was the second oldest college for women in America. The burning will be the source of regret to hundreds of pupils and alumni all over this and adjoining states. It is not known what arrangements will be made for the fall session.

The residence of Lem Walker, who lived in one of the college buildings, was destroyed by the fire at the same time. It is not known whether he had any insurance or not.

One Building Saved.

The fire originated in what is known as the college chapel, which adjoins the main college building. The flames were discovered soon after 4 o'clock, and spread quickly to the main building. By heroic work the Sarah P. Well-Lexum building of the college was saved.

The Southern Female college (Baptist) is one of the oldest colleges for women in the south. Established in 1842, it has ranked among the leading educational institutions of the south.

John E. Dawson was its first president, who was succeeded after a few years by Professor Milton E. Bacon, who presided for fifteen years or more. The next ten years Professor Henry E. Brooks and Professor John A. Foster were at its head.

Then came Professor I. P. Cox, under whose direction the institution grew into great favor and who was its president for nearly thirty-five years. He was succeeded by his son, Professor Charles C. Cox, whose death occurred in about one year after assuming management.

Dr. G. A. Nunnally, new of Lake City, Fla., and one of the most eminent divines of the south, was next made president, and assisted by his son, Professor A. H. Nunnally.

Hatton Was President.

Four years later, Dr. M. W. Hatton and took up the work where his predecessors had left off, building a great and good name for the institution, which for sixty-six years has been a monument to southern womanhood, thousands of whom all over the south will feel that the destruction is a personal loss.

The college was situated on one of the highest and most beautiful locations in LaGrange. The grounds and buildings belonged to L. J. Rinder, of LaGrange.

Professor M. W. Hatton, the president, was away at Florence, Ala., though Mrs. Hatton and children were at home. A number of boarders were at the college for the summer. Very little of the furniture was saved.

The fire was supposed to have originated from defective wiring.

It is believed steps may be taken to rebuild the college, though no plans have yet been discussed.

Ossining, N. Y., July 20.—Charles H. Rogers and Angelo Laudiero were executed in Sing-Sing prison early today. Two convicts were given in each case. The crime for which Rogers paid the death penalty was the killing of Willis and Frederick Olney, brothers, at their farm house, near Milledale, N. Y., October 6, 1906, and following the dual crime soon after by killing Alice Ingerick, daughter of Mrs. Georgia Ingerick, the Olney brothers' housekeeper, whom he also assaulted.

The murder for which Laudiero was executed was the result of an old feud between him and Michael de Ambaro, ending by the murder of the latter, in New York, December 14, 1906.

Harrison Roberts, 22 years old, was shot and fatally wounded by Henry Goad in Bristol Sunday evening. Goad is in jail and claims the shooting accidental.

Six Young Men Arrested.

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(Special).—While a party of six prominent young men were quietly enjoying a drink at a friend had prepared for them over the turf ex-saloon on Cherry street this morning, Deputy Sheriff J. W. Wilson and Gene Chambliss walked upon them and preferred charges of gambling, promptly arresting the party and taking all the members to the county jail.

The officers said it was a case of "shooting craps," while the men said they were quietly enjoying a drink. The arrests proved a sensation in the neighborhood and there was excitement enough for the party.

All six of the men submitted and were quietly taken to the county jail to await when an accusation is made. One of the party declared he had never in his life been involved in such a case and the whole number besides being completely surprised, worked hard to keep the public gaze off.

SEC. OF NIGHT AT CHICKAMAUGA

Will Review the 6,000 Troops This Afternoon.

Splendid Cavalry Raid Was Made By Capt. Mickey of the Blue Army—Georgia Troops Took Part in Raid.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 20.—At 6:45 o'clock this evening Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, Major General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff; Captain Davis, aide-de-camp, and General E. A. Carman, chairman of the Chickamauga-Chattanooga national military park commission, arrived in this city from Washington. They were met at the Central station by General Potts, commander of the troops at Camp Tatt, and other officers from the post, and escorted to the Hotel Patten, where an informal reception was tendered, in which many citizens participated.

Tomorrow morning Secretary Wright and party will be taken to the government reservation, and will spend the day in making a thorough inspection. At 3:30 o'clock the six thousand troops will pass in review before the secretary and General Bell, after which the officials will return to the city.

This being an official visit, Secretary Wright announced that he preferred that no public entertainment be arranged, and his wishes were adhered to. The party will leave Chattanooga Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock for Washington. Secretary Wright declined to discuss the political situation in any of its phases, declaring that he was too much engrossed with the business of the war department to give any thought to anything outside of official affairs.

Magnificent Cavalry Raid.

A magnificent cavalry raid by Captain Mickey, squadron commander, with troops I. K and M. of the Twelfth cavalry and troops A. B and C of Georgia cavalry, was the feature of today's grand maneuver at Chickamauga park. Captain Mickey was with the Blue army.

At the beginning of the fight the squadron was sent to get around the left wing of the Brown army, and come up in the rear. Captain Mickey got off with the fire of the cannon at 8 o'clock and dashed along the road nearest to Chickamauga creek, on the eastern side of the stream. He reached DeFron's ford, some miles up the creek, and crossed. He left company C, of the Georgia cavalry, to hold this, and then at a rapid gallop dashed towards the observation tower near the eastern edge of the field, where battery B, of Third artillery, was engaged in shelling the Blue forces.

Mr. troop was left in charge of the horses. A troop was sent out to flank and scout. Then with K, A and B troops the active commander crept to within a hundred yards in the rear of the battery before he was detected, and then by a sudden charge gained complete control of the guns, together with two companies of infantry who were guarding them. In "real war" the troops would instantly have "spiked" the guns and beat a hasty retreat. Being unable to do this in a sham conflict, the cavalry proceeded to retreat in good order, having supposedly ruined the entire artillery force of the enemy.

CONSTITUTION PUBLISHING CO.

ATLANTA, GA., July 21, 1908.

Atlanta needs a new broom.

We are living in a "near" age.

It takes more than one swallow of near beer to relieve a summer thirst.

The absorbing question as to the convents of "that letter" has been received.

There is a whole lot of majority timber which does not seem to be sufficiently well seasoned.

The fate of agricultural education in Georgia hangs in the balance today, and the seeds of the weeds.

It's a safe bet that there will be some additions to the Ananias Club when Mr. Roosevelt returns from Africa.

When the thirst and the price get together, according to all accounts, the prohibition law stands mighty little chance.

There may be trouble in store for the headline writer who said a prominent citizen was "off" on an automobile trip.

It is impossible to escape the conclusion that in joining the steam shovel union, Mr. Taft is looking for a personal lift.

The latest news from Honduras is that the Central American peace commission has just stormed and captured another town.

We'd like to get the penitentiary investigation committee to find out why council won't do something about cleaning up Atlanta.

Just because Mr. Bryan determined to make a big fight for the west,

Chairman Hitchcock has decided he wants it for Mr. Taft.

It is said the next war will be fought largely with airplanes. If they would just omit the "ships" we wouldn't have to worry about the casualty list.

There seems to be as much mystery about how Hazel Drew was killed as in the identity of the individual who smote one William Patterson.

There is a remarkable inconsistency in the proposed freight rate increase in the light of the interstate commission's recent report of enormous railroad gains.

The "chewing board" appointed to test the various brands of tobacco offered for use in the navy, would be in a bad fix if it should run up against the anti-spitting ordinance.

American participants in the Olympian games who don't like the English empire's decision in the "tug-of-war" contest, ought generously to concede them this one little chance of getting even.

The New York police has started an anti-noise crusade. Commissioner

Bingham evidently hasn't taken force of habit into account, or he would hesitate to enforce this slumber-disturbishing scheme.

They have just buried a Chicago fan who fell from a three-story building as his favorite knocked a home run. Now look out for a proposed law to prohibit anything over a two-base hit.

A man who robbed the cornerstone of a New York church twenty-four years ago, offers to return the contents and $200, if his identity is not disclosed. The only thing that is worrying the pastor is the fear that he will back out of the bargain.

ENFORCE THE LAW OR REPEAL IT!

Is Georgia's prohibition law to be permitted to become a dead letter?

Was the object of the law to cease recognition of the legal status of the liquor business simply by refusing to grant it license, or was it to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicants within the state?

In the former it has been successful, and state and municipal revenues have been completely wiped out.

In the latter, if we are to believe Dr. Broughton and Dr. White, there is evidence that it has proven a lamentable failure; the sale goes on, sometimes with defiant publicity, at others under the apparent cover of municipal protection.

In Sunday sermons, both Dr. Len G. Broughton and Dr. John E. White, among the most earnest advocates of the cause, admitted that the law is openly violated in the large cities of the state.

Beer is sold openly; whisky may be had by any one who wants it bad enough to ascertain the simple methods of acquiring it.

It cannot be doubted, in the light of assertions and charges such as these, that violation of the prohibition law is a prolific source of lawlessness.

And in the violation there is far more danger to the state and the community than there is in the mere act of dispensing liquors to one or to a dozen individuals.

Dr. White has well summed up the situation: The question is whether a law of the state, made as other laws are made, shall be nullified by such communities or classes as choose to wink at its violation. This, I think, is a more important issue than whiskey drinking or beer drinking.

And again Dr. White says: If the prohibition law is not a good law, and there are some outside the criminal classes who think it is not, there is a way to get rid of it. It is by executing it honestly. Let the people be convinced that it is not a good law by the ill results which come from its strict enforcement, then appeal to the people for its repeal through the legislature.

Here is the issue well summed up!

The prohibition statute is a law of the state of equal dignity with that against murder, arson, robbery or any other crime.

It is the duty of every authority and every community in the state, strictly and rigidly, to enforce it.

As Dr. White says, absolute enforcement is the surest and speediest way to kill a bad law. Let enforcement, then, determine whether the people of Georgia want prohibition.

But if the state is going to admit its weakness by countenancing continued and unrestrained violation, the quicker it is repealed the better.

The only mission which a dead letter has upon the statute books is to breed a lawless spirit that makes for other and graver crimes.

FATE OF THE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS.

The fate of Georgia's eleven district agricultural schools rests today with the senate.

If the senate submits to the defeat of the bill proposing the increase from 10 to 25 cents in the fertilizer inspection tax, without providing other adequate source of revenue for these schools, agricultural education in Georgia will receive a setback from which it will not soon recover.

In the face of the seemingly indisputable proof that the additional inspection fee will not add a penny to the cost of fertilizers to the farmers of Georgia, it is impossible to understand the attitude of opposition to measure in which such vital interest of the state are so intimately bound up.

Leading manufacturers of fertilizers have asserted that the farmers of Georgia are already paying for their fertilizers on the basis of 25 cents a ton inspection fee, and that the mere collection of it by the state can, therefore, add nothing to the cost.

In other words, the state is now losing more than $100,000 a year which may be had by this simple enactment for the support of these agricultural schools.

If it is not collected they must close their doors; no other practical means of raising funds for their maintenance has been suggested.

Can the Georgia senate afford to deal a blow to agricultural education in this state which may kill or maim it in its infancy?

Georgia communities have given to this cause more than half a million dollars worth of property, a gift conditioned upon the obligation of the state to see that it was used for the purposes to which it was devoted.

Buildings have been furnished and faculties employed and students by the hundred are knocking for admission at the doors of these institutions.

We cannot believe that the senate will ignore so evident a public obligation, or that it will fall in so important and far-reaching a public duty.

There is sufficient police power invested in the counties of Georgia to compel recognition of the rights of the road on the part of extravagant and speed-mad automobilists.

It is to be regretted in the interests of those who use up on the roads animals ordinarily peaceably inclined, that it is not more exercised.

Frequent reports of accidents following the frightening of horses by swift-dashing motor cars which whisk by so rapidly as to defy identification of their occupants, seem to make no impression upon authorities, who wait for a tragedy before they act, and then seldom get results.

In Catawba county a short time ago a swiftly-speeding automobile struck a farm wagon and threw its occupant to his death. Indictments followed, but there the case seems to have dropped.

Almost every day or two The Constitution is in receipt of some report of accident or disaster caused by reckless automobilism, usually accompanied by the statement that the driver of the machine did not pretend to relax his speed, when, to have come to a stop at the roadside might have prevented the loss of property, life or limb.

Legislation regulating the running of automobiles on country roads has been discussed and attempted, but as yet nothing has come of it.

Probably if reckless speeding were made a misdemeanor under the Georgia laws, it would have an excellent deterrent effect; still in its absence it is possible effectively to reach the evil.

If the county authorities would haul up a few of these daredevil and determined despoilers of the roads, it would probably bring the rest of them to their senses and make the country highways safer for all who use them for business or pleasure.

There is no one who seeks to deprive the automobilist of the right reasonably to use his machine.

But that use in which is now all too frequently displayed a wanton disregard of the rights of others, cannot continue.

ELECTRIC HEADLIGHT BILL.

The state senate will have up for action within the next day or two the Tift bill, which has already passed the house, requiring the railroads of Georgia to equip with electric headlights such locomotives as are in use for hauling traffic upon their main lines.

This is a measure which should commend itself to the earnest and thoughtful consideration of the lawmaking body. There does not appear to be any reasonable ground for opposition to it, and there is much that is strongly in its favor.

The electric headlight is a safety appliance held by many to be second in importance only to the airbrake, both to passengers and to those who may be upon the roads or near the tracks.

It aids the engineer's eyesight and enables him quickly to discover human beings or obstructions on the tracks; it has been endorsed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers as a safety appliance of the utmost importance in the protection of life and property.

The cost of equipping with them those engines used on main lines only would be comparatively insignificant, if the possible saving of life is taken into consideration.

With the trains running at thirty-five to seventy miles an hour as they do today, there ought to be taken every possible precaution against disastrous accident.

In this respect the electric headlight, there is little question, would prove a valuable and remunerative investment to the railroads.

A DANGEROUS MILITARY PRECEDENT.

The Stephens bill, which has passed the senate, and is now pending in the house, with a favorable committee report, providing for the organization of military commands independent of the balance of the state national guard and not subject to the requirements of the national or Dick law, ought not to pass.

It is surprising, in view of the elements of danger, if not disruption, which it contains, that it has already made such progress that; it was not defeated in the senate. It can scarce be credited that the senate gave the measure due and thoughtful consideration.

The national guard of Georgia, along with the militia of all other states, has at last, under the Dick law, been organized into a compact, wieldy, and effective body which gives the nation and the states the practical benefits of a standing army at a minimum of cost.

The national government has undertaken the support of the troops, furnishing uniforms, arms and equipment, and providing annual encampment, with all expenses paid, even to the per diem of the men in ranks.

Each state is thus enabled to maintain an effective militia force with an expense to its own treasury which is comparatively insignificant, the only requirement of the general government being that the troops shall respond for national duty to the call of the president made through the governor.

In other words, a splendid system has been worked out under which the state militia is stronger, better equipped and more ready to respond to urgent call than it has ever been before.

The Stephens bill is an entering wedge whose ultimate effect would be to impair or destroy that system. Its enactment would be equivalent to breaking a cog out of the wheel whose efficient work is dependent upon its truthness.

Independent organization would involve extra expense upon the state for equipment and maintenance, but more than that, it would be a thorn in the side of that first and foremost of all military principles—discipline.

Relieve one organization from its duty in response to command of higher authority, and there will soon be others demanding like concessions; enactment of other bills extending the principle of independence would be speedily followed by disorganization and then, disruption.

There should be no smallest break in the system in which is now being built the greatest effectiveness of the national guard.

It is the manifest duty of the house to kill the Stephens bill.

STATE PRESS OPPOSES CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

Examination Should Be Thorough.

(From The Tallapoosa Journal.)
The legislature has acted wisely in demanding a thorough and complete investigation, and we trust the composition of the committee from both houses will be of men of sterling worth and will be possessed of such integrity and backbone so that they may not be swayed from the path of duty and that their investigation may indeed be the minutest detail, so that if the charges be found true, or even partly true, there may be no whitewashing, even of prominent men or officeholders, but a severe arraignment with such recommendations to the legislature as will obviate a repetition of the alleged awful conditions, while full and complete punishment may be meted out to those guilty of the infractions of our laws. If the charges are found to be groundless, then severe condemnation should be meted out to those preferring them. Our fair state should not and cannot rest under such fearful charges.

Approves Mississippi Plan.

(From The Savannah News.)
It is with satisfaction that The Morning News notices that the Georgia legislature has in behalf of the Mississippi plan of caring for and keeping state convicts has at last made an impression on some of the members of the legislature, and that a bill has been introduced looking to the adoption of that plan in this state. The last report of the Mississippi authorities dealing with the convicts of that state was of a character to convince any one reading it that the convict problem had been solved in that state.

Fundamentally Wrong.

(From The Macon News.)
The notion that the present system of leasing the convicts is wholly wrong, not in keeping with humanity, good government or educated civilization. It is unholy, impious and a foul-smelling scandal on the whole.

Brutalizing and Dammable.

(From The Cedartown Standard.)
The fact remains that the whole system is brutalizing and damnable. It has no leaven of the idea of reforming the criminal to save it from utter unworthiness. It has only one thing to help us to understand what it is that it brings some much needed revenue to the great state of Georgia.

An Investigation Necessary.

(From The Cordele Rambler.)
We have been advertised by the world as allowing all kinds of cruelty, graft and corruption, and nothing short of an investigation will place us in good standing again; let it come, and if any harm has been done let it be corrected.

Reform Rapidly Coming.

(From The Savannah Press.)
Georgia has a long way to go in improving her lease system, but we believe she will cover the distance in a short time. The theory of the lease is all wrong, of course. A sovereign state has no more right to surrender the control of its convicts than it has to surrender the control of its courts of justice, its constabulary, or its tax collecting departments. Sooner or later we look to see this convict business entirely reformed, and it is rapidly coming about.

Time to Call a Halt.

(From The American Times-Recorder.)
The time seems opportune for the airing of the alleged abuses, Georgia's fair name has been trailed in the dirt in magazines and elsewhere too long. If the charges are true, it is time to call a halt and sharply punish those who have been guilty of the offenses against humanity charged.

Should Be Blotted Out.

(From The Dalton Argus.)
It is time this traffic in human flesh—the lease system—was done away with. Let the lawmakers of Georgia turn the grim of publicity on this pernicious evil and by their votes blot it from the soil of the Empire State of the South.

Vanishing France.

(From Petit Parisien.)
Old France is slowly disappearing, and its local customs, picturesque costumes and the language peculiar to its ancient provinces will very soon be gone. Nothing more than precious souvenirs preserved in faithful memories or related in works of tradition, which will charm our descendants.

Letters from the People

Cotton as a Covering.

Editor Constitution: Noting that the farmers of Mississippi purpose to cover cotton with cotton bagging, causes me to think of the bagging against the just bagging trust when they placed the price of bagging at 15 cents. The farmers piously resisted this hold-up, and wrapped them in cotton bagging. Approximately 30 pounds is deducted in price as tare for the bagging and ties on each bale of cotton, or supposed to be on the bale. When cotton reached the compresses this cotton bagging was removed and just bagging substituted, on account of the difference in weight, making a nice profit to the cotton buyer.

This is just exactly what will occur again. The cotton raisers surely should have learned by this time that all bales should be of uniform size and all wrapped the same way. Let them notice bales of sheeting, drilling, etc., as they come from a cotton factory—all of uniform size, and packed and wrapped the same way.

There will never any progress be gained until a uniform bale is agreed on, and also as to how the bale shall be wrapped. More carelessness is shown in handling the cotton than in handling anything of like value and result in the loss of millions of dollars annually to the south. We have plenty of money to throw away.

Game Law of Georgia.

Editor Constitution: Please publish in the next issue of your paper the game law of Georgia. I would like to know what it provides, as I do not wish to violate the law.

JAMES WILLIAMS.

Kathleen, Ga.

A complete new game law is now before a committee of the legislature, and a hearing has been called for next Monday. The law is modeled after that of Alabama, which has made rigid regulations for the protection of fish and game. It is much more stringent than the present law of Georgia. It even limits the right of a man to hunt on the land of a friend unless he has at the time a permit in writing.

The main provisions of the Georgia game law, expressed in sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 9, of the existing law, are as follows:

Section 1. That it shall not be lawful for any person to shoot, trap, kill, ensnare, or destroy in any manner, any wild turkey, pheasant, partridge or quail, between the 15th day of March and the 1st day of November in each year; or kill, shoot, trap, ensnare, or in any manner destroy any dove, marsh hen or snipe between the 15th day of March and the 1st day of September in each year; or shoot, trap, ensnare, or in any manner destroy any summer or wood duck or woodcock, between the 1st day of February and the 1st day of September in each year; or to remove from the nest or any manner destroy the eggs of any of the birds protected by this act, during the period they are protected, except as is hereinafter provided. It shall not be lawful for any person to shoot, trap, ensnare, or in any manner destroy or capture any wild deer or fawn between the 1st of January and the 1st of September in each year, or to sell or to offer for sale or have in possession during the closed season, bird or animal protected by this act, whether alive or dead, that are protected by this act, during the period they are so protected.

Sec. 2. That it shall be unlawful for any person to shoot, trap, ensnare, or in any manner destroy or capture any wild turkey, pheasant, partridge, or quail, between the 15th day of March and the 1st day of November in each year, or to sell or to offer for sale or have in possession during the closed season, bird or animal protected by this act, whether alive or dead, that are protected by this act, during the period they are so protected.

Sec. 3. That it shall be unlawful for any person to shoot, trap, ensnare, or in any manner destroy or capture any wild turkey, pheasant, partridge, or quail, between the 15th day of March and the 1st day of November in each year, or to sell or to offer for sale or have in possession during the closed season, bird or animal protected by this act, whether alive or dead, that are protected by this act, during the period they are so protected.

Sec. 4. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to export, ship or carry or cause to be exported, shipped or carried beyond the limits of the state, any partridge or quail at any season of the year. It shall not be lawful for any person at any season of the year, to net or trap partridge or quail except on his or her own premises, during the hunting season.

Sec. 5. That any person or association of persons violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished as prescribed in section 1039 of the code of 1895. That in all cases of arrest made for the violation of this act, the possession of game or of the eggs of birds protected by this act, shall be deemed and held to be prima facie evidence of the violation of the provisions of this act.

Some Grains of Luck.

"Some luck," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "He hasn't caught cold nor had his pockets picked."

BODY OF L. P. COX AWAITS
DECISION OF THE COURT

MRS. LULA ROGERS,
Who is Fighting for Body of L. P. Cox.

The body of L. P. Cox, who was killed by O. E. Rutland on last Thursday in front of the Paris theater, 100 Whitehall street, is still being held at the undertaking establishment of Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield, pending the decision by the judge of the superior court in the injunction proceedings started by Mrs. Lula Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers has petitioned the court for an injunction preventing the undertakers or the administrator of the estate from removing the body from Fulton county.

Mrs. Rogers, who says she was the common law wife of the deceased, wants to bury the body at Westview, while the family wishes to carry the body to West Point, Ga., for interment.

Mrs. Cox, the mother of L. P. Cox, has arrived in the city from Atlantic City, N. J.

CHEER UP, CHATTANOOGA;
GEORGIA SOLONS COMING

Cheer up, Chattanooga! Some of them are coming. The house committee on the Western and Atlantic railroad, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, voted if the senate committee would join them to go on a tour of inspection over the state road between Atlanta and Chattanooga on Friday. The committee will also inspect the terminal properties of the state road at Chattanooga.

University Committee.
Favorable action was taken yesterday by the committee on the university and its branches, upon the resolution of Mr. McIntyre, of Thomas, to send to the city of Thomasville the building and grounds that belonged to the university and were known as the old South Georgia Agricultural college. It is to be used as a public school building.

CITY COMMITTEE MEETS TO NAME PRIMARY DATE

Will Meet at Noon in Council Chamber—Will Adopt Rules for Primary.
The city executive committee meets today at noon in the council chamber for the purpose of naming a date for the city primary and to adopt such rules for the election as may be deemed necessary.

The call for the meeting was issued by Chairman W. W. Gaines and he stated that he desires all the members to be on hand promptly.
If the committee agrees on a date, the city campaign will open up at once and the candidates for mayor, aldermen, councilmen, city attorney, city engineer, city tax collector, city treasurer and commissioner of public works will all get their hustling clothes on; that is, those who have no opposition, for there will be a few who will have their usual walk-over.

Cornerstone Was Laid.
Rome, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Yesterday the cornerstone of Holsey Temple, colored Methodist Episcopal church, was laid. Three orders of Odd Fellows and one of Knights were present. Drs. John D. Robins, of the Methodist church, and J. B. Headings, of the Baptist church, were among the white speakers. Both emphasized the importance of being good and doing good. The colored speakers spoke along the same line. Among them were: F. M. Gordon, H. F. Parks, H. F. Chunn, T. M. Davis and A. L. Bailey.
The occasion meant much for the race and colored Methodist Episcopal church. Twenty-five dollars was raised.

Foul Play Suspected in the Death of William Reed.

TWO THEORIES ADVANCED

Friend Says Reed Suicided Because of Death of Woman He Loved, While Step-Father Holds to the Theory of Foul Play.

William Reed, a painter 31 years of age, died from an overdose of morphine in the Grady hospital yesterday at 10 o'clock. He was found in a semi-conscious condition in a rooming house on Levee Decatur street at 10 o'clock by an occupant of the house who heard his groans and was hastily removed to the hospital in an ambulance. His condition was too serious for the best of medical attention to restore him to life. Examination proved the morphine was taken with a hypodermic needle.

According to a statement of one of Reed's friends, the young man had been despondent over the death of a sweet-heart. His stepfather, J. H. Bedford, who resides at 57½ East Hunter street, states that he thinks young Reed met with foul play, as he was not in the habit of taking the drug, and was, as far as he knew, not in love with any woman, since his separation from his wife four years ago.

Mr. Bedford has reported the case to Assistant Chief of Police Jett, and Detectives Harper and Dorsett are working on the case. Mr. Bedford stated that Reed had a large roll of money on his person at the time of his death, and that he thinks he was doped and his money stolen.

Coroner Thompson will hold an inquest at Harry G. Poole's chapel this morning at 10 o'clock, and the mystery that surrounds Reed's death will be solved as far as possible.

Reed is survived by his divorced wife and one little daughter, Jennie, 6 years of age, who reside on Echo street, and by one sister, Mrs. Lottie Walker, of Marietta, Ga. He is also survived by his stepfather, half-brother and four half-sisters who reside at 57½ East Hunter street. Reed boarded with a stepbrother, Jim Bedford, at 500 Pelham street.

REV. PLUNKET TO SUPPLY
PULPIT OF DR. LINGLE

Rev. J. T. Plunket, D.D., of the First Presbyterian church, Augusta, has been secured through a fortunate coincidence to supply the First Presbyterian church of this city for the month of August, while Dr. Lingle is away on his vacation.

Dr. Plunket is one of the half-dozen most eminent ministers of the southern Presbyterian church. He is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and received his collegiate and seminary training at the Southwestern Presbyterian university and Columbia Theological seminary. His wife comes of old Tennessee stock, being the daughter of E. K. Kennedy, one of the leading business men of Tennessee.

Dr. Plunket is an exception to the rule in regard to brief pastorates, as he has served but three or four churches in a ministry extending over a score of years. He had been preaching but a short while when one of the leading churches of Detroit had their attention called to him, and secured him for a few years. Several years ago the old historic first church, Augusta, the church in which the Southern Presbyterian church was organized in 1861, gave Dr. Plunket a unanimous call. From the beginning of this, his longest pastorate, he has done a singularly successful work. Through his admirable talents as an administrator, he has developed this old church into one of the leading churches of the south. He is universally loved by his own church and by the people of this city will be fortunate in hearing the eloquent sermons of this great orator for a few Sabbaths.

MILEAGE FOR TICKETS.

Railroad Commission of South Carolina Heard Arguments.

Columbia, S. C., July 20.—(Special.)—The railroad commission spent the day hearing representatives of the railroads and representatives for traveling men on the present rule requiring mileage to be exchanged at stations for tickets. Representatives of traveling associations were here from all parts of this state and from Georgia and Alabama, and the leading railroad men from three main lines argued against any change in the rule. The commission will give a decision as soon as the testimony is transcribed.

HEAVY STORM DOES DAMAGE.

Douglasville Farmers and Fruit Growers Suffer Large Losses.

Douglasville, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—A heavy windstorm visited this vicinity Saturday night and Sunday morning, doing a great deal of damage to out houses, fruit trees and crops of every description. The large sheet iron shelter in front of N. B. & J. T. Duncan's store was completely demolished and many other smaller sheds were blown down.

The greatest damage seemed to be that of the fruit trees. Thousands of trees were stripped of their fruit and many trees were torn up by the roots.

Between Sixth Street and City Limits.

OLD PAVING IS DANGEROUS

City Engineer Says County Superintendent Stated He Would Begin the Work in Thirty Days. Much Complaint About Condition of Street.

There has been much complaint about the condition of Peachtree street between Sixth street and the city limits. The paving has become worn out in many places and there are holes and gulleys which not only make riding along that thoroughfare unpleasant, but which may endanger human life.

But it is said that this deplorable condition of Atlanta's most popular driveway will not long exist; that it will soon be repaved with bituminous paving, and that the work will be done by the county of Fulton.

City Engineer Clayton stated that Superintendent Donaldson, of the county public works, told him a few days ago that work on the repaving of Peachtree street from Sixth street to the city limits would probably begin within the next thirty days.

Superintendent Donaldson said that he could not state positively just what time the work would start.
"It is my understanding," stated Mr. Donaldson, "that the work has been passed up by the county board, and that Peachtree street, from Sixth street to the city limits, will be repaved by the county free of cost to the property owners, just as Lee and Gordon streets were paved in West End. The work will be done just as soon as possible, but just what date that will be, I am not able at this time to say."

Agreement Has Been Made.

Both the chairman and the clerk of the county board are out of the city, and could not be communicated with. Other members of the board stated that they knew the county had agreed to repave the portion of Peachtree street mentioned, but just what the agreement was, and when the work was to start, they could not state.

The people who ride on Peachtree, and that includes nearly everybody in the city, are very anxious to have the work started as soon as possible, and they hope that nothing will interfere to postpone the repaving of the street.

The longer the work is delayed the more the people will be inconvenienced, and there is a strong probability of damage suits against the city arising in the meantime.

If Mr. Donaldson begins the work in thirty days, it will not be long before the street is in a most excellent condition, for the county superintendent works fast and always does his work well.

A great many people are complaining about the condition of the street as it now is, and they are all hoping that the good news about the early paving of Peachtree is true.

THREE NEGROES LYNCHED.

The Lynching Grew Out of Incendiary Preaching by Negro.

New Orleans, La., July 20.—Correspondence received here from Jonesville, La., contains further particulars of the lynching of several negroes in Catahoula parish, Louisiana, which was reported in dispatches from Natchez, Miss., Saturday night.

Three negroes, instead of two, were strung up, and it now develops that the lynching grew out of incendiary preaching by a negro "prophet" named Albert Godlin. Godlin is alleged to have called for the burning of the cotton gin of Captain J. W. Swayze and his order is said to have been carried out by Sam and Miller Gaines, brothers. Godlin and both of his converts paid the penalty of their crime with their lives. All is now quiet in Catahoula parish, where the negroes have declared that they were not in sympathy with either Godlin or his teachings.

SALOON CASES NOL PROSSED.

Judge Burke Not Prosecuted 223 Cases at Cullman.

Cullman, Ala., July 20.—Judge Robert L. Burke, of the county court, caused a surprise today by not prosecuting all of the 223 cases known as the Cullman saloon cases, except one case against each defendant in which a fine of $50 was imposed. The action was taken over the objection of the county solicitor and special counsel.

These were the cases growing out of the violations of the prohibition law during the time the supreme court had the constitutionality of the act under consideration.

BRING CAVALRY TO BIRMINGHAM PROBE INVITED FOR CONTRACTS

This Will Add 200 Men to Military Forces in Mining District. Complete Investigation Authorized by New York Cotton Exchange.

Birmingham, Ala., July 20.—Governor B. B. Comer today ordered the Alabama cavalry troops, in camp at Montgomery, to proceed to Birmingham at once, and the men, 200 strong, arrived tonight. The action of the governor was precautionary, and the men will be here in readiness for distribution to various points in the county in case of further trouble as a result of the miners' strike.

Reports from the various mining camps early tonight are to the effect that everything has been quiet today. There is considerable desultory shooting in various sections, and a feeling of unrest prevails in all the camps, but no one has been reported injured. It was feared for a time today that the strike sympathy was spreading into adjoining counties. Sheriff Long, of Walker county, and a posse of four deputies were called to Cordova this evening because of a report that an attempt would be made to burn the big Frisco railroad bridge there tonight. Reports from Cordova tonight are that while many people are on the streets, and various rumors are heard, the sheriff believes no violence will be attempted. Sheriff E. B. Latham, of Tuscaloosa, made a trip to the mining camps of that county today, and stated tonight that he anticipated no trouble at the mines there.

Governor Comer held a lengthy conference with Sheriff Hixson today about the situation in Jefferson county, and the calling of the troops to the district.

The governor also called a number of officials of the large mining companies into conference today, with a view to improving conditions for the militiamen now on duty.

The Alabama cavalrymen were to have gone today to Chickamauga Thursday, but Governor Comer decided that unless the situation improves before that time the men will be here in camp in Birmingham.

REPUBLICANS OF STATE WILL MEET ON JULY 30

A white republican presidential electoral ticket in the state of Georgia, though a pronounced novelty, now appears almost an absolute certainty.

While Hon. Walter Johnson, of Columbus, United States marshal, and chairman of the state republican central committee, declines to discuss the rumors that have been rife for some months relative to a white republican ticket in Georgia, he will not give a denial when questioned about the matter.

During the current week Chairman Johnson will issue a call for a meeting of the state republican committee on Thursday, July 30, for Atlanta or Macon.

New York, July 20.—The board of managers of the New York cotton exchange today passed a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to make an investigation of the present contract for the future delivery of cotton as required by the rules of the exchange, and inquire into other features of the institution's policies. The action of the board of managers followed a conference recently with the spinning interests in the north and south which have criticized the methods of the exchange.

The special committee will be appointed later, and will be composed of seven members, including President George Bronckes, of the exchange, who is directed by the board of managers to endeavor to obtain the active participation of the United States bureau of commerce in the inquiry, and its advice upon the formulation of the results of the bureau of commerce, recently criticized the New York exchange for its methods in the handling of cotton contracts. The special committee is directed to report by September 1.

While our best slaban was unable to get a grapple hold on the Memphis yesterday, H. Johns landed where the other failed, and both Charles Babb and William Smith should be well satisfied with the get-away of the western invasion and home stay, respectively.

The score in the first game was 6 to 5, with the foreign people leading. The Crackers finished first in the second, 4 to 2.

Until the ninth the count of the game was very lopsided, but in that round with Memphis on easy winner, the Crackers smashed Ralph Orlando Savidge finger nail curve, and all, to divers portions of the arena, collecting three runs thereby, and moving up to a point uncomfortable for the Turtles before it was finally over.

In the second the Crackers drew a lead which was almost overtaken by Babb, and then got another run, which with Johns' good flinging, had them beaten.

It was a regular debut party, lasting from 2:30 o'clock until night. In that round and forty minutes jammed full of new umpires and players. Messrs. Moran and Wheeler, who came to fill the shoes of the late O'Brien, introduced themselves all around, and proceeded to get away with it in pretty good style. Then Bill Smith trotted out McAdams, of Atlanta, Ark., and later Mr. Smith, recently of Norfolk, made his bow. All of them made a favorable impression.

Pitcher McAdams went to Ford's relief in the seventh inning of the first game, when it had already traveled the wrong way. He waded through the remaining three rounds without having any accidents, save two hits that failed to show.

Catcher Smith Delivers.

Catcher Smith caught a mighty clever game as a starter. His pegging to the bases was remarkably accurate and fast. He seems to be a finished ball player. He didn't get the words on fire at the bat, but dropped a nifty bunt when the same was needed with a vengeance.

In the opener the enemy began hitting Ford from the start, but it must be said that his alone were not responsible for his downfall.

When the ninth rolled around the Memphis were leading 6 to 2, and the Cracker forces decided to rally. Winters doubled to left as a little beginner, and Moran singled to the same spot. Becker hit to second, and Moran was fielder-choked at the plate. Then Jordan gave Carey an easy pop, but Jim Fox needed a pair of shoes and a hat and a dollar, and he proceeded to collect with a four-bagger to left that scored Winters and Becker and himself. That ended the rally. Castro going out second to first.

The Second Game.

After the fifteen-minute recess the Crackers, much refreshed and reinforced by Catcher Smith, beat the Memphians. In the first round the locals counted one through Becker's double, Dyer's sacrifice and G. Winter's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth the home boys add to their numbers when they pulled over to two in a lump, and had three to the Memphis' six. Jordan singled to left; and Fox tripped him to the plate. Jim scored the other when Carey failed to knock the throw from Johns' grounder.

In the sixth the visitors crawled to within one of our total in short order. Two hits were taken out of Johns, and an error in addition to these turned the trick. O'Leary was the first hitter with a single to center, and Babb got one of the same caliber to right. Two were gone when Carey grounded to Dyer, Bill fumbled the drive for an instant.

If experience counts for anything in baseball, and it is generally conceded that it does, the St. Louis Browns have the advantage of every other team in the American League. When the average number of years' experience the players have had in big league company is figured out it is found to be six and one-half years, which is going some. The number of years in the big leagues of the Browns follow: Bobby Wallace, 16 years; Jimmy Williams, 11; Jack O'Connor, 20; Hobe Furris, 7; Tom Jones, 5; George Stone, 4; Danny Hoffman, 7; Roy Hartwell, 3; Charlie Jones, 6; Al Switzer, 1; Jack Powell, 11; Bill Dineen, 11; Barney Kelly, 5; Rube Waddell, 11; Harry Koveal, 11; Graham, 1; Baker, 2; Spencer, 3; Stephens, 2; Blue, 1; Joe Yeager, 12; Criss, 1. PITCHER MCADAMS.

MOSTLY BASEBALL

The Southern is a progressive sort of league in most everything save scoring and the way the umpires don't hurry up the games. Fans who have been accustomed to witnessing big league contests can sit in one of the Southern's games and find no fault with it except that every player has as much time to do anything as he desires.

The average time of a game is two solid hours—that for a regulation nine-round contest. When they go an extra distance it gets too dark to get the chronometer's figures on the time.

In the big leagues, where the judges of plays make them, and thus place the spectators, the time of the games ranges anywhere from one hour and twenty-six minutes to one hour and fifty minutes, the last time being about the limit. Of course extra innings are a thing of the past.

No matter how well played and how close a baseball contest is, it is allowed to drag itself along, the said drag detracts from its attractiveness.

Spectators want to see a snappy contest and want to see it go fast, utilizing play following play, and with great rapidity. The beautiful contest loses much of its beauty if it snails along. The fast game is the one the fans are after, but they don't get it often in the Southern unless Billy Carpenter is indicating.

They are having some trouble in the South Atlantic League over the scoring matter. In Jacksonville recently the regular official, who was fired and a lady given the job. Her identity was not discovered for several days.

Saturday one of the box seats flew over the fence and the figures haven't been covered yet, the outside world being in ignorance.

There will be a checker tournament in Atlanta in September. Christy Mathewson should get a leave of absence from the Giants and come down.

Umpire Tim Hurst is quoted as saying that he always calls a runner who slides into first base. It is hardly probable that Tim would have said nothing relative to changes, admitting that he is in the division of opinion as to whether he should call a runner who slides into first base. But it brings up an interesting point. Does a player reach first base quicker by sliding? Many hold the belief that he does. The base runner slides to deceive the umpire, while in the alleged interview Tim is made to say that the player slides because he feels sure that the ball has him beaten. Players who practice the trick—George Stone, for instance—testify that the last stride gives an umpire a head start, which saves a fraction of a second. Base runners, unlike the broad jumpers, do not slow up before reaching the take-off, or even measure their strides. With every ounce of speed they can bring forth the base runners go to first and then with an almost superhuman force make their leap. And if Timothy was correctly quoted, many players and close students of the game differ with him.

Carlos Smith, the sap having arisen, will join the Barons Tuesday. He will go to right field, naturally, and Raub, it is presumed, will go left behind the bat. While Molea's name has been mentioned in connection with it is assumed here that Holmes will be retained as utility man. There are many fans in Birmingham who will welcome the return of Carlos Smith to the game. He was with Birmingham when the team, sold to the Southern League team, sold to the Southern League—Birmingham Ag-Herald.

Good Weather in South and Bear Pressure Causes

Market Opened Barely Steady in the First Few Minutes—There Was Some Wall Street Buying,
But the Market Soon Became Easier.

New York, July 21.—The cotton market was active, but lower today, owing to good weather and local bear pressure, with the close steady, at a net decline of 7/16 points. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales.

The market opened barely steady, at an advance of 3 points on July, which was influenced by a little covering, but generally a 4 to 6 points lower, in response to lower cables, the decline in the English spot market, and favorable weather reports. There was some Wall Street buying during the first few minutes, and a rally of 2 or 3 points occurred in prices, but the market soon turned easier, on the outlook for cloudy to showery weather in the south for tonight and tomorrow, while it showed considerable resistance to bear pressure, no rallying power developed.

The close was within a point or two of the lowest figure of the day. Bearish interests were quite aggressive at times, during the session, but while the bulls made no point to advance the prices, they seemed to be willing to buy between 9.16 and 9.18 for October, and probably the net result for the day from a speculative standpoint was an increase in the concentrated interest on both sides of the account. The weather over the weekend was considered generally favorable, and there was more talk of freer offerings from the south, with the southern market officially reported unchanged to 1-16 lower. The next government condition report will be issued at noon on July 22. Receipts at the ports today 2,650 bales, against 6,055 last week, and 1,550 last year. For the week 25,000, against 25,000 last week, and 10,500 last year. Spot closed quiet, 15 points lower; middling uplands 10.85; sales 500 bales; futures opened barely steady and closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton.
New Orleans, July 20.—Cotton, spot prices: good ordinary 7 1/16, nominal; good ordinary 6 1/2, low middling 9 1/2, middling 10 1/2, fair 11 1/2, fair 12 1/2, nominal. Sales 175; receipts 388; stock 52,243. Spots were quiet and steady, 1-16 down, on all grades. Middling 10 1/2. Sales were 150 bales on the spot and 25 to arrive. Futures opened steady 6 to 10 points below the day's closing, and closed steady. The market was a result of unfavorable advices from Liverpool and a lack of demand in the local market. The decline continued as the day progressed. The depressed condition appeared to be entirely reflective, since there was no local interest to exert a bearish influence on the market and no change in the general tenor of the market. The decline continued into the late session and without the development of any bullish factors, the market closed steady, 13 to 14 points below the close Saturday.

Dry Goods.
New York, July 20.—The advance in prices made by the American Printing Company last week was followed by other larger producers today. The advance is the same, 1/4 of a cent a yard, in both primary and secondary markets. The trading in these cloths was active. New lines of spring dress goods in both wool and cotton were being opened at figures slightly under last year. Raw silk is firm and higher, but about 10 cents lower being asked for the highest grades.

Liverpool Cotton.
Liverpool, July 20.—Cotton spot dull; prices: American middling fair, 6.88; good middling 6.32; middling 6.04; low middling 5.66; good ordinary 5.08; ordinary 4.68. The market was 3,000 bales, of which 200 were for speculation and export and included 2,800 American. Receipts 400 bales, all American. Futures opened quiet and closed quiet.

Carpenter, Baggett & Co.
New York, July 20.—Cotton—Ideal weather so far as moisture goes, was what providence furnished over Sunday. Temperatures, however, remain rather high, but forecast called for more showers, and temperatures tomorrow over a good portion of the belt.

Habersham King's report was considered bearish, especially as the few points mentioned in his report needed rain received it on Sunday.

Taking into consideration the very favorable turn in the weather, the market has held remarkably well. Wall street has been the principal buyer on the way down, and the decline from this low level will depend largely upon the action of the Wall street crowd, who are reported to hold the bulk of long contracts. If they should try to liquidate, a further and quick decline would follow, but on the other hand, should they continue to absorb cotton, around 9 cents, and high temperatures follow present rains, a different story would be told, for the short interest is undoubtedly being increased and a decisive rally would be the result.
